History

Parts of our charming building date back to the fourteenth century and, even though it has grown considerably since then, it retains that special old English character. Local legend has it that, in the late 1700's, George III was one of our more famous visitors. While riding in Windsor Great Forest his horse threw a shoe and the King's party sought out the forge which was next door. In gratitude for the hospitality shown them while they waited at this tavern, a Royal Charter granted the proprietor the right to serve wine and beer day and night. Although this particular licence no longer exits, our aim as proprietors for the last thirty years, has been to give all guests a Royal welcome!
